

WE'RE PROUD TO SERVE THOSE WHO SERVE AMERICA

America's medical schools are proud to work with the Joining Forces initiative to address the unique health and wellness challenges of our nation's service members, veterans, and their families. Through medical education, research, and clinical care, we are enhancing the training of tomorrow's doctors, sharing the latest knowledge about traumatic brain injury and post-traumatic stress disorder, and strengthening the supportive community of the physicians and health care providers dedicated to improving the health of the military and their families.
