“The learner’s environment is a critical aspect in determining success. Whether in the OR, clinic or rounding, the “teacher” (which includes faculty, staff, residents and students) should create a positive environment for learning and understand that for a heterogeneous population of learners the best teachers will have an individualized approach toward instruction.”

-Joseph Kerschner, MD, FACS, FAAP