The Medical College of Wisconsin (MCW) Pharmacy School offers an innovative model of pharmacy education to ensure high quality healthcare continues for future generations in both urban and rural communities throughout Wisconsin. If you are interested in earning your PharmD degree in just three years, learning alongside medical and graduate students and gaining clinical experience at some of the top medical facilities in the region, we encourage you to review our admissions requirements.

In order to become a next-generation pharmacist, fully prepared to meet the demands and opportunities of this rapidly-evolving profession, the MCW Pharmacy School's admission process is designed to evaluate several key elements that are essential for your success, including:

- Scholastic accomplishments
- Intellectual and emotional maturity
- Leadership experiences
- Ethical behavior
- Motivation
- Communication skills
- Volunteer/work experiences
- Your commitment to caring and advocating for patients

INTERNATIONAL, FOREIGN DEGREE AND TRANSFER STUDENTS

Our commitment to providing a culturally diverse and cutting-edge educational experience naturally translates to our welcoming of international, foreign degree and transfer students to participate in the admissions process. For information surrounding the policies and requirements, we encourage you to visit the MCW Pharmacy School website.
