INTRODUCTION

Cartooning Classes: Reflection: 73.3%
Satisfaction: 75.8%

Comments:
- I don’t think this session is beneficial for everyone and should be optional.
- This is a good workshop for some, but not for everyone. This should be an optional event.
- I think this is something that is optional because it is hard to force people to do an art.

RESULTS

Zero participation

Follow up
2 of 8 boxes were missing
Remaining boxes had been pushed to the corner and with supplies piled on top.

Two Major Barriers
1. Not knowing about the project.
2. Not interested in participating.

DISCUSSION

Reminder emails from course directors and clerkship directors were not enough to motivate participation.

Financial incentive was not enough to motivate participation.

Despite participants requesting this activity be optional it is best done in a classroom format.

ENTREPRENEURIAL MINDSET

We were curious to determine if we could change from a structured use of cartooning to unstructured.

Collaborated with Dr. Hooyer who is an Arts Based Researcher.

Ruled out a way to implement reflective cartooning for students and residents.
