Relationships Matter

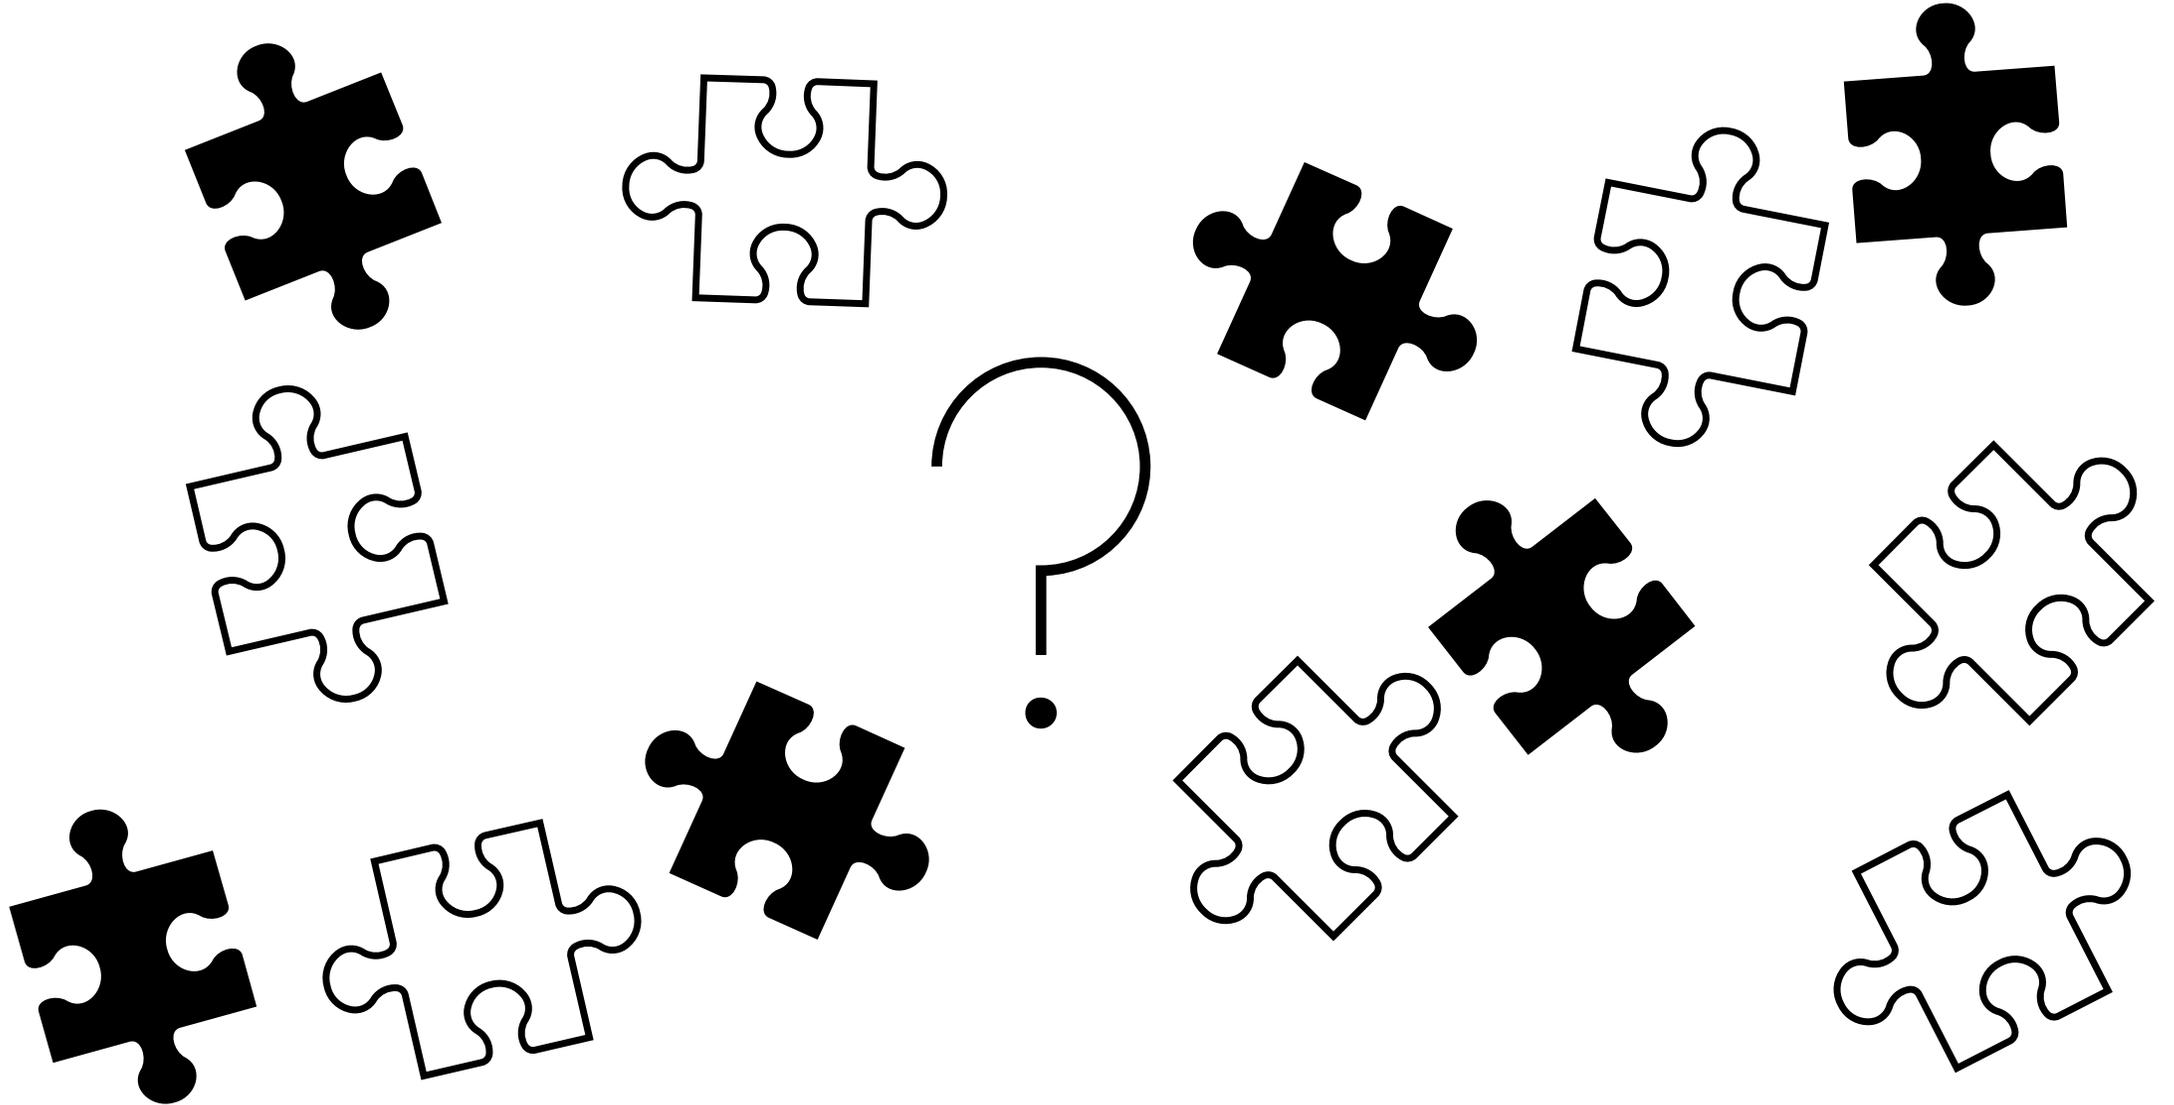

But time stops for no one

Gratitude is embedded in the people at MCW

What is the question I am trying to answer?

How do you allow people to show appreciation for one another, no matter where they are?

What People Said....

- A few examples.
- Many are shorter, many are longer, but all of them bring people together.

- You have an intensity to you that I so look up to! Thank you for all of the work you do for the student body. Also I love your cat mom-ness

Remember you have companions

*•Na'asha you make me laugh SO.
HARD. Not gonna lie, I was a little afraid of you when I first met you but I've found since then that you have such a big heart! Oh and your art is AMAZING*

Mattering

Relationships

- *You matter because you take care of everybody around you, even when you have a million other things going on. You exude positivity and truly are a wonderful classmate, future doctor, human, and above all, friend. Love you tons, ****

... If you give people the chance to do something nice, they will.

Let them know, see, feel that they matter, and give them a reason why.

Creating a Sense of Mattering is only ever a few clicks away...
