

MCW SCHOOL OF PHARMACY ACADEMIC PHARMACY FELLOWSHIP

MCW School of Pharmacy is seeking applications for an Academic Fellow. This individual will be appointed as a full-time, year-round non-tenure track Clinical Instructor. This position is a 2-year post-graduate opportunity, designed to prepare pharmacists for a career in pharmacy education through training in teaching, curriculum development, college service, mentoring, scholarship and clinical practice with an anticipated start date of 8/1/2026. Individuals that have completed PGY1 or PGY2 training program can apply for a one-year fellowship.

The clinical responsibilities of the fellow will be consistent with experiences provided in a PGY1 residency. The fellows will be exposed to a variety of teaching responsibilities, including lecturing, facilitating small group-based learning, course coordination and student assessment. In addition to extensive academic experience, the fellows will also participate in direct patient-care rotations in primary care. This position reports to the Academic Fellowship Director in the School of Pharmacy.

The training year will consist of approximately 60% teaching- and academic-related duties and 40% clinical practice. Highlights of the training program include participating for the entire year on a college committee, extensive teaching experience and flexible clinical practice opportunities. At the end of the training program, academic fellows will be well prepared for a career in academia.

Select Fellowship Activities:

- Design, implement, facilitate, and deliver innovative educational content within the Doctor of Pharmacy program
- Develop skills in educational training through a variety of classroom experiences (i.e. didactic lecturing, facilitating skills labs, and small group active-learning environments)
- Participate in a longitudinal specialty area of academia (i.e. Assessment, Curriculum, Admissions, Faculty Affairs, etc.)
- Develop skills necessary for successful course coordination, precept Introductory and/or Advanced Pharmacy Practice students on clinical rotations
- Engage in mentorship activities through student organizations and community service
- Exhibit professionalism through participation in pharmacy and interprofessional organizations and serving as student organization mentor
- Complete the MCW School of Pharmacy Teaching Certificate Program
- Complete the MCW Kinetic 3 Teaching Academy
- Precept students in a clinical telehealth program

Scholarship

- Complete the MCW School of Pharmacy Research Certificate Program
- Complete a research project related to the scholarship of teaching, learning and/or education
- Present research data at a professional meeting and the Annual MCW School of Pharmacy Research Symposium annually

- Submit paper for publication (systemic review, educational innovation, etc.)
- Represent the college at selected professional meetings (regional and national presence)
- Submission of a grant proposal will be taught and is highly encouraged

Clinical Practice

- Refine clinical practice skills by maintaining clinical practice skills and providing patient-centered care in a specialty of fellow's choice (ambulatory care, internal medicine, cardiology, etc.)
- Develop pharmacy practice experience and expertise in support of the clinical knowledge expected of a faculty member
- Coordinate and participate in health fairs and population health initiatives

Eligibility Requirements

- Applicants must hold a PharmD degree from an accredited U.S. program (or equivalent)
- Individuals who have completed a PGY1 pharmacy residency or a PGY-2 specialty residency or a fellowship and are interested in pursuing a career in academia are highly encouraged to apply. Applicants without a PGY-1 residency will be interviewed based on their academic performance/experience.
- All applications must be eligible for Wisconsin licensure and obtain Wisconsin licensure within 120 days of employment.

Applicants should submit a letter of application describing their qualifications, a curriculum vitae, and the contact information for three references to Ms. Sarah Paul at sapaul@mcw.edu
