

NONFICTION • MEDICAL NARRATIVE

A Fullness of Uncertain Significance: Stories of Surgery, Clarity & Grace

by Bruce Campbell, MD FACS

“His vibrant stories illuminate the fundamental human underpinnings of medical science. Eminently readable and richly satisfying.”

-Danielle Ofri, MD, PhD, Editor-in-Chief of Bellevue Literary Review, and author of When We Do Harm: A Doctor Confronts Medical Error

“I felt as if I were a privileged witness to an almost sacred encounter between surgeon and patient ... It is impossible to read this book and not be changed by the experience.”

-Carol Scott-Conner, MD, PhD, author of A Few Small Moments: Short Stories

“In this tender and candid collection of short essays ... we get a glimpse of how surgeons hone their instincts, grow through challenges, and cope with disappointment as they navigate the uncertainty inherent in medicine. Even in the pressurized world of surgery ... there are moments of intimacy that are filled with grace.”

-Rana Awdish, MD, FCCP, FACP, author of In Shock: My Journey from Death to Recovery and the Redemptive Power of Hope

“Dr. Bruce Campbell sets a new milestone for doctor-writers ... bringing luminous sight to his work. His writerly gifts lay open the profound mysteries, truths, and awe about this life of ours. These stories will change lives.”

-Rita Charon, MD, PhD, co-author of Principles and Practice of Narrative Medicine

When Dr. Bruce H. Campbell first set foot in a hospital as a seventeen-year-old nursing assistant, he observed the best and the worst of doctors, hospitals, and the entire health care team. These lessons returned to him and shaped his own journey as he became a surgeon. Through these well-crafted, poignant, sometimes funny, and always insightful stories, he shares what his patients and their families shared, having never forgotten what it felt like to be a beginner.

Bruce H. Campbell, MD grew up in the Chicago area, attending Purdue University and Rush Medical College. He completed specialty training at the Medical College of Wisconsin and MD Anderson Cancer Center, returning to MCW to spend his entire career as a head and neck cancer surgeon. Whenever he could, he created essays about moments that surprised him as a physician, surgeon, teacher, and person. He and his wife, Kathi, live near Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

ORDER THE BOOK!

Ten | 16
PRESS

•Through Ingram:

Hardbound (Dust Jacket): ISBN 9781645382799
Paperback: ISBN 9781645382638

•Direct From the Publisher: Ten16 Press:

Shannon@orangehatpublishing.com
414-212-5477

Retail Cost: US $16.99 | Paperback

Retail Cost: US $29.99 | Hardbound (Dust Jacket)

Wholesale Discount Per Book: 40%

Returnable. Returns acceptable after 12 months of no sales at no cost to Ten16 Press*